 19 On July 7, 2025, this Court ordered Defendants Uber Technologies, Inc., Rasier, LLC, and
 20 Rasier-CA, LLC (collectively, “Defendants”) and certain Plaintiffs represented by Levin Simes LLP
 21 (“the LS Plaintiffs”) to meet and confer regarding the status of Levin Simes cases involving
 22 incarcerated or deceased Plaintiffs and submit a joint statement within 21 days detailing the process
 23 for obtaining these Plaintiff Fact Sheets as well as any remaining disputes. ECF No. 3430.

24 On Thursday, July 17, 2025, attorneys for Defendants and the LS Plaintiffs held a meet and 25 confer regarding these issues. They followed up with additional discussions regarding these issues
 26 via email on July 23. The parties were not able to reach an agreement on the process for obtaining 27 Plaintiff Fact Sheets for Levin Simes cases involving incarcerated or deceased Plaintiffs. After meeting and conferring, the parties' positions are as follows:
 28

Incarcerated Plaintiffs:

Defendants' Position:

If incarcerated Plaintiffs intend to pursue their claims, they are obliged – like all Plaintiffs, bellwether and non-bellwether alike – to satisfy the PFS disclosure requirements ordered by this Court.

The fact that a plaintiff is incarcerated “does not excuse plaintiff's obligations to prosecute the case and comply with the federal rules of civil procedure.” Rodgers v. Alameda Cnty. Social Servs. Agency, Nos. C-98-3760 VRW & C-00-4470 VRW, 2001 WL 58966, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 12, 2001). On March 26, the Court issued a final order compelling Plaintiffs to submit their PFS within 14 days of the Court's order or have their cases dismissed without prejudice. ECF No. 2628 at 5. The incarcerated LS Plaintiffs do not dispute that they have failed to submit a timely PFS. Instead, Plaintiffs' counsel assert that they should be permitted to file “partial fact sheets” that provide only as much information as they have now.

“Partial” fact sheets fail to satisfy the Court's order that “each Plaintiff must submit a completed PFS, and executed Authorizations, through MDL Centrality.” ECF No. 348. Moreover, they prejudice Defendants. Indeed, Plaintiffs' submission of “partial fact sheets” fail to fulfill their essential purpose of “giv[ing] each defendant the specific information necessary to defend the case against it.” In re Phenylpropanolamine (PPA) Prods. Liability Litig., 460 F.3d 1217, 1233 (9th Cir. 2006). Further, by not submitting their fact sheets, Plaintiffs effectively remove themselves from eligibility for consideration as a future bellwether, directly limiting Uber's available options and undermining the bellwether process. Pretrial Order No. 21 (“PTO 21”) at 2, ECF No. 1950 (a Plaintiff must have submitted a PFS to be eligible for inclusion in the bellwether pool).

Plaintiffs also assert that being required to submit complete PFS by a date certain would force them to fly to various jails/prisons around the country, which would be unworkable. That is nonsense. Communications with Plaintiffs – even incarcerated Plaintiffs – can take place in many different ways (e.g., FedEx, U.S. Mail, telephone, etc.). Given the Plaintiffs' counsel's representation that there are only five incarcerated Plaintiffs, they could fulfill their PFS obligations

1 in short order. Lastly, although Defendants appreciate that Plaintiffs' counsel – like Defendants and
2 their counsel —are preparing for trial, that does not excuse Plaintiffs (any more than it excuses
3 Defendants) from satisfying their discovery obligations. Like any other counsel, Plaintiffs' counsel
4 must assign appropriate resources and supervise cases to comply with this court's orders. See, e.g.,
5 Holley v. Gilead Sciences, Inc., No. C-18-6972 JST (N.D. Cal. Jan. 21, 2021), Tr. at 12:13-24 (“It is
6 just a fact in cases like that are not class actions. You have 1,000 clients, roughly. You have 1,000
7 clients with 1,000 individual cases. You’re going to have to litigate a thousand individual cases.
8 There it is. That’s a burden you willingly accepted because you thought it was a good strategy and,
9 because you’re a profit-making enterprise, you thought you would make more money that way, I
10 guess.”)

11 The incarcerated Plaintiffs' fact sheets were originally due between 10 and 14 months ago.
12 Defendants initially provided each Plaintiff with a 2-to-4-month extension. Thereafter, both the 13 Magistrate and this Court each provided the incarcerated Plaintiffs additional time to satisfy their 14 obligations as well. Yet, they still have not complied. Nonetheless, Defendants are willing to give 15 the incarcerated LS Plaintiffs a final extension of 30 days to file the Court-ordered PFS. Like all
16 plaintiffs, they must abide by the rules of discovery and this Court's orders or face dismissal of their 17 claims. See White v. Gonzalez, No. 21-cv-04221-CRB, 2024 WL 1659896, at *3 (N.D. Cal. April 18 16, 2024) (Breyer, J.). Any incarnated Plaintiff that does not satisfy the PFS disclosure obligations
19 within 30 days should be dismissed with prejudice.

20 Plaintiffs' Position:

21 There are currently five Plaintiffs who are subject to the Court's July 3, 2025 Order that we 22 believe are incarcerated. Our proposal regarding these clients is to provide a partial fact sheet with 23 the information that we currently have and that the case be stayed until these women are released
24 from incarceration. We will stipulate that we will not propose these cases to be selected as 25 bellwether. Further, we will be cooperative with any remand order that this Court issues.

26 Uber's position that we fly to various jails/prisons around the country in order to submit a
27 Plaintiff Fact Sheet within 30 days is not practical or workable at this time, particularly when our 28 firm is preparing for the first Uber sexual assault trial in the JCCP, which is set for September 8,

2025. Additionally, our firm is a co-lead in the Lyft JCCP, which has the first trial set for October 6, 2025. Further, the second Uber bellwether trial is set in November of 2025. Given that these cases are stayed, and that they will not be bellwether cases, there is no real urgency in getting the Plaintiff Fact Sheet completed. Given the incarceration status of these individuals, these cases will not be set for trial in the near future and would certainly not be representative in terms of a bellwether with respect to the greater pool of claims in this litigation.

Deceased Plaintiffs:

Defendants' Position:

Plaintiffs and Defendants appear to agree that these cases cannot proceed without a plaintiff and Plaintiffs' counsel must substitute the deceased Plaintiffs with new Plaintiffs if they intend to proceed with these claims.

Where a plaintiff dies, the proper course is for a motion for substitution to be filed within ninety days; otherwise, "the action by or against the decedent must be dismissed." Fed. R. Civ. P. 25; see also LN Mgmt., LLC v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 957 F.3d 943, 953 (9th Cir. 2020) ("the dead lack the capacities that litigants must have to allow for a true Article III case or controversy"). It is uncontested that Plaintiffs' counsel has not made substitutions here.

Plaintiffs argue that they "cannot agree to a dismissal without prejudice without the permission of a client." Plaintiffs' position is untenable, given that they have admitted they have no client – their former clients are deceased. Regardless, dismissals under Rules 25, 37, and 41 do not require agreement from a plaintiff or their counsel. They are imposed by courts under the operation of the rules themselves.

During the parties' meet and confer, Plaintiffs' counsel claimed that they are "looking into" substituting living plaintiffs, but Plaintiffs refused to commit to a deadline to make those substitutions. There must be a deadline for Plaintiffs' counsel to complete their substitutions. If substitutions for deceased Plaintiffs are not made within 30 days, those cases should be dismissed with prejudice because there is no Plaintiff in those cases where the Plaintiff is deceased. Foster v. Carter, No. 3:16-cv-02336-LB, 2016 WL 7852472, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 1, 2016).

Plaintiffs' Position:

1 There are three Plaintiffs who are subject to the Court's July 3, 2025 Order that are deceased.
 2 (See ECF No. 3430.) These deceased Plaintiffs pose a unique issue because at this time there is no
 3 client that our law firm currently represents, and there is no party before the Court. We agree that
 4 these cases cannot move forward without a Plaintiff, and in all likelihood should be dismissed given
 5 that the victim of the Uber sexual assault is deceased and it is unclear whether certain claims
 6 pertinent to each case would survive the death of the victim. However, at this time, we do not
 7 currently represent the heirs, as such we cannot agree to a dismissal with or without prejudice
 8 without the permission of a client.

9 This is not a simple process is simply substituting one individual for another. However, given
 10 that sexual assault is underreported, any potential heir to these Plaintiffs' claims likely do not know
 11 about the sexual assault at issue, and even if they did those individuals are currently unknown to us
 12 at this time. We are also bound by confidentiality both in terms of our representation and the 13 protective order. We never received instructions from any of these clients regarding who they would 14 want to substitute into their case should they pass away. We will be cooperative in this process.
 15 However, Uber's proposal of 30 days is not workable or practically necessary, particularly in a
 16 context where there is no party before the Court and no chance that any of these cases will be chosen
 17 as a bellwether. As such, there is no immediate need for this process to be expedited in the manner
 18 that Uber suggests.
